Besten by the Philadelphias and Bos-tons Shut Out by the Pittsburgs-Bal-timores and Clevelands Also Win. With the arrival of the Louisville players in this city the New Yorks' winning string was broken, the Colonels defeating the local aggregation at the Polo Grounds yesterday. A ratting twelve-inning game was won by the Brooklyns from the unfortunate St. Louis players, while the Cincin natis were checked by the Philadelphias. Buck Ewing's players, howthe Philacelphas. But a wing players, as the ever, retain their lead over the Bostons, as the Hub men were shut out by the Pittsburgs. Whe Clevelands won an uphili game from the Washingtons and gained on the leaders, and the Baltimores barely defeated the Chicagos.

LOUISVILLE, 5; NEW YORE, 4. Not more than 500 persons paid to see the Louisvilles defeat the New Yorks at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The visitors played a smart game in every respect, and for the time being outclassed the home team. Meekin was very wild at critical points, but at that he pitched well enough to win with any kind of atlek work behind him. The New Yorks had done or five chances to win the day with a single hit, but Cunningham, with a finely controlled straight bail and drop, was too much of an obstacle to oversome. Then, too, Dexter made two magnificent catches in the seventh inning of drives that ordinarily would have been home runs. These plays were sandwiched in with a sort of half-hearted rally at the bat and undoubtedly saved the game for the Kentuckians. Joyce and Gleason were unable to play on account of injuries, so Doyle made his first appearance on first base. Gettig at second did well, taking eight rather difficult chances, Grady made a star catch and threw a man out at the plate.

The New Yorks began scoring in the second The New Yorks began scoring in the second inning, when, with one out, Grady singled, stole second, and scored on Gettig's single, stole second, and scored on Gettig's single, stole second, and scored on Gettig's single, that man flied out and Warner hit safely. The latter drew a throw to second, with the result that Gettig was caught off third. In the third the visitors made two "gift" runs. With one out, Kittridge got a life on Doyle's muff, and Meekin then gave bases on balls to Cunningham, Hoy, and Stafford, advancing "Kitt" the plate. Cunningham also scored on a wild pitch. In New York's half Meekin opened with a single, and was forced after Van had flied out. Doyle's double put Tiernan on third, and Davis's single brought Mike in, Doyle, however, being caught at the plate on Hoy's throw. In the fourth Clarke took two bases on a missed third strike, ran to third on a scratch by Wagner, and came in on a wild pitch. The New Yorks had two men left in their half, with no runs. Wagner's double and Clingman's hit in the sixth yielded another. The score:

Two of the leading teams couldn't have furnished a more interesting game than the one played at Washington Park yesterday between the Brooklyns and St. Louis. It was fortunate for the home club that Ralph Miller was taken out of the box, as he was wild and was being hit hard. With two runs scored, two men on the bases and one out in the second inning Miller requested to be relieved from further work. Dunn, who then took command, held the tail enders in check throughout the game, which lasted twelve innings. Alex. Smith opened the Brooklyns' twelfth inning with a long drive to the centre field fence. Instead of being satisfied with two bases alex, made a bee line for third. The hall had been quickly thrown in by Stenzel to Crooks, who passed it to Cross, but Smith was safe. Jones followed with a stinging bounder past Decker, and Smith came in with the winning run. The home team played three men in centre field. Griffin sprained his ankle sliding to third base in the third inning and gare way to Luchance, who retired after his hand was hart while oversiding second base in the seventh inning. The score:

The occasion was the initial series of competitions for print and individual prizes to be continued weekly throughout the summer months. Handicaps were introduced to render the competitions more interesting, the allowances being conductve to close races throughout.

H.H. Reeder, Jr., was the scratch man in the plunging competition, but a surprise was furnished by D. Graham, who had four feet handicap. His best actual plunge beat the scratch man's performance 2 feet 6 inches. Even this surprising form was not good enough to overcome the liberal handicaps allowed other competitors. Graham only taking third place.

for Caldron and Isldor-Don Blas and Rare Perfume Also Score for the Talent -Philip Wine a Good Race for Joyner Ideal midsummer weather favored the sport at Brighton Beach track yesterday afternoon, tendance was decidedly good. Favorites actendance was decidedly good. Favorites accounted for three of the events, so that the speculative market was about even up at the finish. One of the features of the day was the reappearance of Tod Sioan in the saddle. He had the mount on George Keene in the big event of the afternoon, a handicap for three-yoar-olds and upward, at one mile and a sixteenth. When Sioan was recognized in the parade the entire stand applauded heartilly while his chronic admirers stampeded the ring in an effort to get aboard of Sioan's mount at any price. The result was that George Keene went to the post favorite while he would probably have been ignored with any other jockey up.

The race aroused intense interest, as Maher, who has been crowding Sioan's percentageeon-siderably of late, was up on Caldron, the second choice. Marcus Daly's noted sprinter Isidor, well backed at 11 to 5, was also among the staters, and everything pointed to a stirring contest. The track had dried out well under the influences of the sun and the steady breeze and was almost as fast as ever when the five candidates lined up. They got off in almost perfect alignment, and Premier took up the running. McLaughlin's horse showed the way for half the distance, with laidor next. The latter moved to the front turning for home, closely followed by George Keene and Caldron, while Premier drouped back beaten. Ut not straight it was a duel between Sioan and Maher, and Danny was forced to draw his white. Sioan sat perfectly still and brought George Keene home a length in front of Caldron, who beat laidor two lengths for the place. Tod was cheered to the echo as he returned to the scales. Favorites started in well, Don Diax winning the opening dother race made and the stoady of the second event. A wild tip in the third race made Marito favorite, but Rotterdam was also well and the sell all right effects of the second event. A wild tip in the third race made Marito favorite, but Rotterdam was also well as an and received the ring in the proposal proper and the second eve and Danny was forced to draw his whip. Sloan sat perfectly still and brought George Keene home a length in front of Caldron, who beat Isidor two lengths for the place. Tod was cheered to the echo as he returned to the scales. Favorites started in well, Don Blas winning the opening dash in a gallop with Doggett looking around for his rivals, while Maher on Bare Perfume also made a runaway race of the second event. A wild tip in the third race made Marito favorite, but Rotterdam was also well backed and the Dwyer colt, in the hands of Sims, outfooted his field in the run home. Swamp Angel and High Priest were selected as the best of eleven doubtful quantities in the fifth race. Buffoon, at 6 to 1, ran the choices into the ground in rare style and looked all over a winner to the inclosure, where Hamilton brought Fred Gebhard's Mizpah up in time to win by a head. Meanwhile, Maher was busy on Swamp Angel and ran Buffoon to a head. Jack Joyner's Philip, trained to a turn, pulled off the last event by a good margin and helped Maher to his second win of the day. A Marked Decrease of Sunday Riders on Nearby Thoroughfares—Chairman Mott's Latest Bulletin—Many Runs Scheduled for To-Morrow—The Michael-Linton Race.

For soveral weeks past the Saturday exodus of cyclists from the city by bout and train has indicated that there is a marked increase in the number of those who have learned to take their wheels out of town with them to stop over Sunday. It has also been noticed that there is a corresponding decrease in the number of the better class of riders on the nearby roads that in the spring are popular. The country roads are now settled as they were not even a month ago and as they continue to be improved the condition of affairs described is likely be become more and more true. With the promise of continued hot weather, those who go out to-morrow will do well to select their routes so as to avoid the asphalt as quickly as possible, and to take themselves oceanward or toward some rural district which they know is shady. St. Nicholas avenue is poor south of 125th street. The Fordham road is in poor condition, as are also the City Island and Boston Post roads. Jerome avenue is being resurfaced, but there is fair riding on one side of it. Not one of the roads of Kingsbridge is in good condition, and Broadway at Kings-bridge and city line is very poor. Riders intending to go down Eighteenth avenue, Brooklyn, are apt to be deceived as to its condition ecause where it leaves the cycle path it is poor for a few hundred feet, but beyond that it is fair. The New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. held its annual meeting at Newark on Thursday night. The report of Chief Consul C. Frank Kircker of Paterson was first read, followed by the report of Secretary-Treasurer James C. Tattersall and those of the standing committees. The falling off in membership is attributed to the war by those who have made a study of the situation. Despite the decrease the division stands second among the States in the percentage of applications and renewals. The Treasurer's report showed a balance of $700. Resolutions were adopted congratutiating the leaders of the United States Army and Navy upon their recent triumphs. The Committee on Local Organization reported that many new consultates had been created throughout the State. The committee received the privilege of allowing the Consuls to adopt the protective system so that the members can place on their bleycles an L. A. W. plate with the wheel's registered number and the name of the owner. If a wheel is then stolen the detective bureau is notified immediately. Several changes were made to the constitution and bylans.

Corbett and McCoy Sign to Meet for Twenty

The absence of any unnecessary talk or ar gument was a noticeable feature of the meeting between Billy Gray and George Considine yesterday afternoon for the purpose of matching Kid McCoy and Jim Corbett. Many sporting men, including Tom Sharkey, Billy Brady, Jim Curran, Jerome McDonough and Al Herford, were present. Brady did not have much to do regarding the match, save to offer a suggestion or two. This fact gave considerable weight to the current rumor that Corbett and Brady are not on the best of terms. Brady, however, says that their relations are still very cordial.

In striking contrast to meetings of this kind, it did not take either side long to come to terms. The new articles of agreement were signed by Milton Gray on behalf of the club Billy Gray for McCoy and Considing for Cor-bett. George Leary and Harold Logan acted as witnesses. The old agreement was not he was ill in bed and in no shape to box. Curran was on hand and down to weight, and the managers tried to induce him to fight Otto Selloff, a Detroit pugilist of some note, but Curran said if he couldn't fight Daly he didn't care to meet anybody else.

The managers of the club were particularly bitter in their denunciation of Daly, who, they said, should have sent word to them earlier regarding his disability. They even hinted that Daly, not believing that the receipts would be very large because of the hot night, had flunked. It was alleged that he had tried to induce Curran not to get to weight so that there might be an entanglement. This, however, was all sidewalk gossip, and must be taken for what it is worth. The fact remains that the flasco will hurt both the club and Daly, although the latter is wholly to blame. A couple of thousand persons were disappointed, for they knew nothing of the postponement until they reached the clubhouse.

Ben Jordan Likes America. TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-Sir: I shall sail

To the Editor of The Sun-Sir: I shall sail for England to-morrow (Saturday) on the Campania, but before I depart I want to say a few words in neknowledgment of the kind treatment accorded to me by my American friends and admirers. It is rather hard to leave such pleasant surroundings and nequaintances just as I am becoming to feel "at home," but circumstances prevent my remaining. I will return again, however, in October next, and will meet any one in the world who desires to box me for the title of featherweight champion, which I won from George Dixon, the clever and game little fighter, who has so ably defended his laurels against all comers for a number of years. In proof of my sincerity regarding my kind treatment by my American friends and my intention to visit your grand country again, I will leave my interests for the present in the safe keeping of Martin Dowling and Harry Newbar, who will stay in the United States until I come back. I want to thank the press especially, also Al Smith, Martin Dowling, Dr. Ordway, Billy Seleck, Benny Murphy, Dan Creedon and all those who have made my stay here pleasant. I remain, yours faithfully.

Jim Corbett has issued the following statement:

I have read with considerable interest the puglistic proclamation stron Sharkey. I am of the opinion that my record and position in the ring entitle me to mis receiver than Sharker has shown to me when the construction of the sharker has shown to me when the consect another person and myself during the same evening, and I firmly believe that he knew when he made his ridiculus proposition that there are no dauger of it being accepted. But now that my match with McCoy is arranged I desire to state that I am prepared to but Sharkey ten rounds that their contest to take place in New York in two weeks after my engagement with McCoy. If I fall to best him I am willing that he shall take the entire purse, as I propose to put myself in perfect condition for my contest with McCoy. I should like to arrange a match with Jeffrey, Fitzsimmons, or any of the other septing heavy weights, as I hope to meet all of them during the coming winter, while I am in good physical eliaps.

If Mesars, Jefrica, Sharkey, and Fitzsimmons are during the coming winter, while it am in good para-cal shape.

If Messrs. Jeffries, Sharkey, and Fitzsimmons are as anxious to meet me as they say they are, the match can be arranged as quickly and as quietly as the one that I have just closed with McCoy, and it will be en-tirely unincessary for any of the above named to in-dulge in any bragging or blowing in the newspapers in order to secure a match with me. I give first chance to Sharkey, and hope he will accept.
